LIQUOR ARGUED
PRO AND CON IN ILLINOIS HOUSERepeal of The Search And Seizure Law Theme
Of Discussion

By AUBREY CRIBB.
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Debate of the liquor question, and Illinois moral responsibility to strengthen the hands of the federal government in its efforts to enforce prohibition, today found the House of Representatives of the 57th Illinois General Assembly in the role of audience and before it a dozen "wet" and "dry" champions, expounding the latest arguments, pro and con.

Repeal of Illinois' search and seizure act was the question at stake. "Drys" had for spokesmen Dean Edward T. Lee, head of the John Marshall Law School, Chicago; Geo. H. Wilson of Quincy, former President of the Illinois State Bar Association; Mrs. Catherine Vaughn McCullough, prominent Chicago woman lawyer; the Reverend A. M. Tunnewell of Ravenswood M. E. church, Chicago and Attorney W. Wood of Moline.

Cermak Leads Wets.
"Wets" gave chief acclaim to Antonio J. Cermak, Democratic candidate for Mayor, Chicago, whom Thomas O'Grady, Democrat, Chicago, sponsor of the repealer bill, described as the only Chicago candidate for mayor who accepted personal invitations to be here. Cermak addressed his argument to the taxpayers, supporting his statement that prohibition is the cause of enormous tax burdens.

Mrs. George E. Brennan, widow of the former Democratic National Committeeman, and Mrs. Wirt Morton, both of Chicago, represented the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Judge James J. Trainor, Chicago, of "The Crusaders"; Ralph Shaw, Chicago, of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment; former Senator Thiele, Chicago, of the Illinois Association Against Prohibition, and Col. Ira L. Reeves, personally "dry" and former New Jersey prohibition administrator and a chevron of the Legion of Honor of France, now a leader of "The Crusaders" were the other exponents of the "wet" side.

Women Plead Reform.
Twenty-two thousand Illinois members of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, Mrs. Brennan told the Assembly, "urge the repeal of the search and seizure act because of the danger to citizens of double jeopardy and because it is an obstacle which must be removed before passage of new laws regulating liquor control in this state."

"During the campaign last fall our organization sent letters to all candidates for the legislature asking their stand on this law and we endorsed and worked for those candidates who favored repeal, regardless of party, and we like to think, from the great number of liberals elected last November that we have contributed in some measure to this success."

"When the 18th amendment is repealed and that is the objective of our national organization, we pledge active interest and co-operation in the new laws to be submitted to the people, to the end that they may be such that the vast majority of the voters will consider them just and reasonable and will voluntarily observe them. We pledge ourselves further to work by means of education and persuasion for the return to their former place of high esteem in our lives, of those grand old fashioned virtues of temperance, sobriety and self control which have been lost to us since the coming of prohibition."

Good News For
Taxpayers; Tax

The tax rate in Dixon will be slightly lower this year than last year according to figures released today by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick. Figures from the State Tax Commission were forwarded about three weeks earlier this year than last year and this means that the annual collection of taxes will begin earlier. County Clerk Dimick is completing the job of extending the taxes in the various townships at his office.

As previously announced there is no change in the state tax rate this year, it remaining at 39 cents. The following is a comparative table of assessments for 1929 and 1930 as effecting Dixon:

FARMERS AND
WIVES ATTEND
MONDAY'S MEETSeries Of Lectures At
The High School
Interesting

The second farmers' meeting held at the high school Monday proved to be one of much interest. It was gratifying to note that some of the farmer's wives have also enrolled for this interesting course of ten lectures and discussions. The topics discussed at the Monday night meeting were: 1—The two most important soil types around Dixon, the upland timber and the upland prairie soils; 2—Analysis of each type of soil; 3—Elements needed for each type to secure maximum crop production; 4—How to test soil for lime requirement; 5—How to test soil for phosphorus deficiency; 6—How to manage alkali soils.

Three reels of motion pictures were shown entitled, "The Legacy" and "Ten Years of Limestone," each explaining the proper method of crop rotation and field management. A feature of the evening which prompted considerable merriment was the lucky number prize which went to Harold McCleary, route 8. The boys from the high school Future Farmers club served hot chocolate and wafers after the meeting.

Next Monday, Prof. Wells from the University of Illinois, department of farm organization and management will lead the discussion on the topic, "Analyzing the farm business."

British Aviatrix
Slightly Injured

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Bruce, British flier who was slightly injured here yesterday almost on the last lap of her world flight, planned to go to Washington today for a visit to the British embassy.

Then she will return to Baltimore and supervise the repairs on the plane in which she flew alone from London to Tokyo, and from Vancouver across this country. Her scheduled four-hour visit to Baltimore may be extended to one of as many days.

Mrs. Bruce's injuries consisted almost entirely of a bruise on the hand, but was so shaken up that she decided to forego a reception at the embassy at Washington. She was leaving the airport here when the wheels of her little biplane bogged and it flipped completely over.

CHICAGO POLICE,
BANDITS BATTLE
IN HEART LOOPTwo Negroes Captured;
Four Pedestrians
Were Wounded

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(UP)—Police and two Negro bandits fought a pistol battle today at Wabash, Wacker and Michigan Avenues, in the downtown district. Four pedestrians were wounded seriously in the firing, crowds crossing the Michigan Avenue link bridge were thrown into a panic and both Negroes were captured, one being run down purposefully by a quick-thinking truck driver.

The battle began when the two Negroes, Clarence Hughes and Isadore Wilkins, both 19, held up the Baskin clothing store at 336 North Michigan Avenue and fled with $150 after terrorizing six employees and two customers.

Trained by Customers.
The customers trailed the Negroes from the store to the point on the Chicago river where Wabash and Michigan are intersected by Wacker Drive, a two-level street. Here the customers enlisted the aid of Francis Stanton, a traffic officer, who started shooting at Wilkins and Hughes. Edward Marek, a mounted officer, also fired as the bandits dodged among the crowds milling in and out of the fashionable Michigan Avenue shops.

Pedestrians ran into doorways. Several women fainted as the policemen scurried through the throngs, firing when they could sight the bandits. As Wilkins dodged across Wacker Drive, Charles Carey, Negro truck driver, speeded up his machine and ran the bandit down, injuring him seriously. Stanton, wounded in the right leg, captured Wilkins. Marek chased Hughes into a blind alley and captured him.

Pedestrians Wounded.
Bullets flying from pistols of both the policemen and bandits found four human targets among the crowds of shoppers and early lunch-goers. They were, besides Stanton, Al Babin, a millinery manufacturer; Conrad Coleman, caterer at the exclusive Medinah Club nearby; and William Motik, a mail carrier.

One of the customers who trailed the bandits was Sidney Korshak, Assistant Corporation Counsel, who entered the clothing store as the holding up was in progress. He along with the other customers and employees was bound by the bandits. As they looted the cash register, he freed himself and another customer and started the chase.

Korshak was robbed of a diamond pin and $50 in cash, which was recovered with the rest of the loot. While lying bound he tossed a $1,000 diamond ring under a counter where he retrieved it after the shooting and excitement were over.

Church Meet Held Up.
A series of the most daring hold-ups ever attempted in Chicago was climaxed last night when four gunmen held up 40 men and women attending a church meeting, robbed them of about $100, and escaped.

The series began four days ago when three bandits raided the Hillman Pure Food Store in the center of the loop, killed one money guard and wounded another and escaped with $18,000 after throwing thousands of Saturday night shoppers into a panic.

The second holdup of the series was even more daring than the first. Five bandits entered the Wieboldt store, outside the loop, Monday afternoon, engaged in a gun battle with several policemen who were guarding a safe, shot one of the officers and a bystander, and escaped with $19,200.

The four men last night appeared suddenly at a community meeting in the basement of St. Hedwig's Catholic church on the northwest side. The 40 men and women were herded into one room and searched quickly. Of the loot, $18 was taken from Leo Doman, secretary of the organization that was in session.

FEDERAL BOND ISSUE TO PAY VETERANS WOULD BE
DISASTROUS TO COUNTRYSec. Mellon Informs
Senate Committee
Of Consequences

BULLETIN
New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Extensive liquidation of United States government securities by large banks was reported by dealers today and was ascribed in some quarters to fear on the part of the institutions that a huge bond issue would be needed if Congress decides to redeem veterans insurance certificates at this time.

Sale by the financial institutions of a portion of their holdings which have been steadily augmented in recent weeks signals an unexpected change of trend and has been sharply reflected in prices.

Long term Treasury issues have declined $2.50 to $7.50 in the last three days due to the liquidation, and there have been smaller recessions in Liberty Bonds which are selling near the peak price for recent years.

By LYLE C. WILSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 28.—(UP)—Secretary of Treasury Mellon today denounced congressional plans for further immediate compensation for World War veterans as a program of unmitigated inflation which would lead to greater depression.

He predicted a deficit this year of at least $375,000,000 and expressed the opinion the compensation project would necessitate an early tax increase. Mellon discussed the question in testimony before the Senate Finance committee, which is considering several bills to cash veterans' insurance certificates. He estimated the cost of cash payments would be $3,400,000,000.

Mellon said the plan, in effect, would impose a capital levy on holders of government bonds, kill the market for other securities and disorganize the government's debt re-funding and retirement program. All bonds would be affected, he said, and capital values aggregating hundreds of millions would be destroyed.

"Obviously," said the secretary, "this is no time for the reckless disarrangement of the public credit."

Condition Unsatisfactory
The present condition of the public finances is far from being satisfactory. Expenditures are running considerably in excess of receipts.

"We are apprehensive income tax receipts will not come up to the estimated figures. According to present estimates, we will reduce our national debt by about $65,000,000, an insignificant amount, and even this reduction may melt away before June 30."

Emphasizing the difficulty of floating a $3,400,000,000 bond issue, Mellon said nothing would be comparable except Liberty loan operations concluded during war time inflation with no unemployed and incomes increasing.

"At the present time," he continued, "the country is going through a severe economic depression and there is a large army of unemployed. I can say without qualification the Treasury could not sell $3,400,000,000 of bonds except on terms (Continued on Page 2)

ONE OF YOUNG
ROBBERS GETS
HIS FREEDOMFather of Mason Hacker
Furnishes Bond
For His Son

Mason Hacker, 20, one of the pair of gas station holdups, who were brought to Dixon Monday afternoon for complicity in several stickups in Dixon and vicinity during the past three months, gained his liberty from the county jail yesterday afternoon. When arraigned for preliminary hearing before Justice Grover Gehant, Hacker and his companion, Kenneth Johnson were both held to the April grand jury under bonds of $10,000 each. Hacker's father, a prominent farmer residing north of Sterling in Jordan township, furnished bond for his son and thus obtained his release. Attorney R. W. E. Mitchell of Sterling appeared for both of the youths.

Kenneth Johnson was taken back to the county jail in default of bond. It was hinted that an effort would be made to secure the amount of the bond from his relatives before the close of the week.

This morning state warrants charging robbery with a dangerous weapon were sent to Sheriff Whitney at Morrison naming Howard Layman, Clifford Ridiout and Robert Glinkner, the other three members of the bandit gang. They are to be brought to Lee county in the event that they are able to furnish bond in Whiteside county.

Rumors late today indicated that several other arrests might result before nightfall in the cleanup of the bandit gang. Officers who were active in the rounding up of the five members now in custody, were said to have expressed a belief that there were several others implicated in the ring and it was reported that an effort was being made to apprehend them this afternoon.

Repeats Charges
Of Intoxication

New York, Jan. 28.—(UP)—A seaman from the crew of the seized rum ship Josephine K. testified today in the coast guard inquiry on the seizure and the shooting of the Josephine K's skipper that Chief Boat-swain's Mate Carl Schmidt was "good and intoxicated" when he boarded the rum craft.

The charge of intoxication—originally made by a crew member in an interview with the United Press and subsequently denied by colleagues of the service—was repeated by Lewis Selig, seaman, who added that Schmidt had taken more to drink after boarding the Josephine K.

Selig, the first member of the crew to testify to events at the time of the fatal shooting of Capt. William Chisett, was a brother-in-law of Chisett. At first, he appeared to hesitate about his charges of drunkenness against Schmidt, but subsequently under cross-examination made the positive charge, adding:

"Because of Schmidt's accent—he is German extraction—and his being intoxicated, I couldn't understand him."

Schmidt's eyes and face were red, he said.

Selig admitted that he himself had been drinking but insisted that Schmidt after boarding the Josephine K. had drunk six or seven bottles of ale and a couple of rye whiskeys in the presence of the entire crew except the chief engineer.

HOTEL ATTACHES
IDENTIFIED ONE
OF FARO PLAYERSSay Roy Browder Was the Man Who Registered
With Myrtle

Springfield, Illinois, January 28 (—UP)—Another link in the chain of evidence by which investigators seek to connect Roy Browder, alias Burgess, alleged "confidence" man with the fake faro game in which Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge, former collector of Internal Revenue for Chicago, lost $50,000 of Edward Litsinger's money was believed established today.

It consisted in the identification of photographs of Browder by employees of the Leland hotel here. Persons connected with the hotel identified newspaper photographs of Browder as the man and who registered here with Mrs. Blackledge.

The identification it was said, corroborates that of Fred Litsinger, of Chicago, who, Mrs. Blackledge says sat in with her at the faro game, and who also identified pictures of Browder as one of the participants in the swindle deal.

Litsinger, however, does not agree that he sat in the game. He says the money was snatched from him as he entered the room.

Browder, investigators said is the man who, posing as a friend of her late husband, told Mrs. Blackledge that some "easy" money could be picked up in Springfield.

An ironical twist was given to the situation yesterday with the discovery that adjoining rooms, occupied by Burgess and Mrs. Blackledge, who had been registered as "Mrs. Myrtle T. Smith, Dubuque, Ia." were just across the hall from an apartment in which Hugh E. Fullenwider, local State's Attorney and who now is investigating the case, lives.

Meanwhile state, county and federal authorities are seeking further clues in an effort to learn identities of other participants in the game.

Fullenwider plans to go to Chicago Saturday to confer with State's Attorney John A. Swanson relative to the card game.

It is probable that a decision as to whether a grand jury will be asked to investigate the swindle will be determined at that time. Edward Litsinger, wealthy Chicago politician, who loaned the $50,000 to Mrs. Blackledge has urged such action claiming the latter to be a party to the deal.

Jurisdiction in the case will also be decided upon at that time. Authorities are nearly agreed that prosecution of the case should be made here and not in Chicago. They point out that while the deal was plotted in Chicago, the actual alleged swindle took place in Springfield.

Dentists May Get
Emergency Liquor

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Woodcock said today new regulations probably would be adopted soon permitting dentists to use the same amount of liquor now for emergency allowed physicians.

At the same time, Commissioner Doran of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau, which administers the medicinal whiskey regulations, announced it had adopted a recommendation of the Wickershaw Law Enforcement Commission that physicians not be required to enter upon prescriptions for whiskey the ailment for which it is prescribed.

Doran said, however, physicians would be required to enter upon the stubs of their prescription books the ailment and the books containing the stubs returned to prohibition authorities.

Before the new rules increasing the allowance of medicinal liquor to dentists can become effective they must be signed by Attorney General Mitchell and Secretary Mellon. Woodcock indicated they had been approved although not finally signed.

Under them the dentists will be allowed to draw an additional six quarts of medicinal liquor each year for emergency use. They already are allowed two gallons for office use each year.

Experts have estimated the coal deposits in the Ruhr district of Germany at 28,500,000 tons.

LEE COUNTY RED CROSS EXPECTS

For the present at least there will be no campaign of organization to raise Lee county's quota of $1,200 toward the $10,000,000 drought relief fund now being sought by the National American Red Cross. Instead an appeal is directed to every citizen of Lee county to voluntarily contribute what he or she can toward the work, making contributions to any bank in the county, which will in turn transmit the donations to the county Red Cross treasurer.

THREE MEN TO BE HANGED IN COLORADO SOONTriple Execution Will Take Place Before
Next Saturday

Canon City, Colo., Jan. 28.—(UP)—Preparations for Colorado's first triple execution in 50 years, went forward at the state prison here today. The last time three men were hanged at the same time, was in 1880.

Some night before Saturday, John Walker, Claude Ray and Andrew Halliday will be hanged for the murder of Under Sheriff Corral A. Hickman, who was slain at Eads, Colo. last March when he tried to stop them as they fled with the loot of a bank robbery at Manti, Kan.

All three apparently were reconciled to their fate today. They showed no emotion whatsoever, or any indication of fear. They want to emulate in carefree manner the three Fleagle gangsters who were hanged last year, and they have succeeded to date.

Walker, leader of the men, discussing the appeal made to Gov. W. H. Adams, by his mother, Mrs. Barbara Brooks, 71, denied that knowledge of his impending fate had been kept from her.

Mrs. Walker saw her son last Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the house of the condemned. She has pledged Walker's insurance policy for $1000 to repay loans used in his behalf.

It also was revealed that the other two condemned bandits have small insurance policies which will be used to give them burial outside "Woodpecker Hill, the prison cemetery."

RED CROSS WILL NOT TAKE FUND
FROM CONGRESSWould Be Unable To Administer Federal Donation

Washington, Jan. 28.—(UP)—The Central Committee of the American Red Cross has refused to accept the $25,000,000 appropriation inserted by the Senate in the Interior Department appropriation bill. Chairman John Barton Payne told the House Appropriations committee today.

The committee took this action at a meeting yesterday when it passed a resolution as follows: "It is the sense of the Central Committee that the Red Cross is in a position adequately to complete the task it has undertaken in the drought stricken areas and it hereby assumes the responsibility of completing said task without public appropriation. "And it was further on motion unanimously voted that it is the sense of the Central Committee that the Red Cross cannot accept the administration of the fund for general relief purposes as provided for under the terms of the bill which has passed the Senate and is now pending in the House of Representatives."

Dramatic Announcement
The Central Committee's decision was announced suddenly and dramatically to the House committee by Chairman Payne after he had opposed the Red Cross entering such a gigantic task as would be required under this appropriation.

"Our conclusion is that the Red Cross simply cannot undertake to administer this fund," he said suddenly, and then presented to the committee the resolution adopted yesterday by the Central Committee. "The President's proclamation was issued on Jan. 13," Payne remarked. "Ordinarily we receive a million dollars a day in such campaigns and can raise such a fund in ten days or two weeks."

The next day Senator Robinson of Arkansas introduced his resolution for an additional $25,000,000, and that day we received a contribution of $5,000."

Contributions increased after that, he said, but were coming in so slowly that he had to call a special meeting to devise special measures to boost the campaign.

Under the appropriation bill, he said, the Red Cross would have to set up a huge and expensive organization which would compete with organizations in cities which are now handling adequately relief of the unemployed.

Two-Fold Problem
He explained that the relief problem before the United States is twofold, relief of the unemployed, which the cities are handling, and drought relief, which the Red Cross is handling.

He opposed the Red Cross going into the city field to handle the general unemployment problem. Whenever unemployment is a problem in drought areas, he said, the Red Cross is attempting to meet it.

Speaking of the drought relief work of the Red Cross, he said "my convictions are we have done our job adequately."

"In every campaign we have found some people who said the Red Cross is a semi-government agency and that Congress should appropriate money for it," he went on.

After Payne had opposed the additional appropriation before the committee, Rep. Hastings, Dem., Okla., asked him:

"But you could do more with the $25,000,000 than you could without it, couldn't you?"

Couldn't Use Fund
"No, we could do nothing at all with it," Payne replied.

The Chairman had told the committee that the agitation for the additional $25,000,000 had "paralyzed" the campaign for the $10,000,000 fund which President Hoover asked. Such funds usually are raised at the rate of a million dollars a day, he explained. The present campaign has been going on since January 13, and the total stood today at only $3,880,506.

Republican House Leader Tilson regarded Payne's statement as an effective aid in their effort to defeat the appropriation, which the administration has opposed throughout. Some expressed the opinion the appropriation was dead.

Democrats, however, served notice that they would continue their campaign to get the $25,000,000.

"I can not imagine the Red Cross would refuse to administer a fund for the benefit of suffering humanity," Democratic floor leader Garner said. "We'll find a way to get another man to administer it," he said. "I think if we give it to them they will administer it."

Senator Caraway, Dem., Ark., commenting from the Senate floor on the testimony of Judge Payne, said:

"Mr. Payne has testified that the Red Cross is able to care for the drought stricken area 'without the need for government appropriations.' It would be so much more money (Continued on Page 2) which would be very hard to justify and without complete disorganization of the government and other security markets.

Would Be Harmful
"Coming at this time such action would seriously retard a business recovery and so prolong unemployment."

Mellon said conversion of the certificates as contemplated would cost $150,000,000 additional annually above the cost of carrying the obligations to the veterans in their present form. He estimated the resultant increase in interest rates on other government obligations would add about $200,000,000 to annual government expenses.

"The effect of these measures" he continued, "would be equivalent to a capital levy on the holders of all United States government securities. I venture to say that if these bills were framed in this form you would not consider them."

"There probably would be some rise in prices, with further dislocation of the price relationship between consumption goods and raw materials. The rise in the prices of consumption goods would be followed by a drop when the stimulation effect of inflation will have worn off, and the drop would bring prices to a lower level than that prevailing at present."

Deeper Depression
"There would, after a while, be a deeper depression than the one from which the world is suffering today. There is no economic merit in the proposal. From the point of view of stimulating business, it is a plan for unmitigated inflation with the disastrous results of which the world is only too familiar."

"To the unemployed it spells further retardation of the day when normal employment will be available. To the taxpayer it means destruction of all hope of the lightening of the load of taxation."

"How the veterans and their families, whose prosperity and welfare are inextricably bound up with the prosperity and welfare of all, can hope to find relief and improvement in their condition from the universal and destructive consequences which these measures would entail, is beyond comprehension."

DEMOCRATS ARE
OF SECTIONALISM

Jealousies Bound To Creep Out If They Organize House

BY THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 28.—(UP)—Democrats are confronted with the bugaboo of sectional jealousy as they look forward to the possibility of organizing the next House of Representatives, a possibility that is being treated almost as a reality by those ambitious for place and power.

Party members from other sections are talking much, privately of the prospect of southern control of the key posts in event Democrats should have a majority and organize by the time the new House meets.

Southern Democrats would get virtually all the important committee chairmanships if the rules of seniority were followed as usual. Six Texans would be at the helm of leading committees, and a Texan, Rep. John N. Garner, is conceded the Speakership if Democrats organize. Then, too, only southerners have been mentioned for the next most powerful post, that of floor leader.

Tammany Resentful
The Tammany Democratic delegation from New York, never very friendly with the southern wing of the party, is most resentful over the prospect. New York would get only two important chairmanships, the Immigration and Post Office committee posts. The state considers itself entitled to more.

It was this intersectional strife and jockeying for positions of leadership which recently caused Democratic floor leader Garner to postpone the party caucus from February 28, the date originally fixed, to a date two days before the next session of Congress convenes.

Under this plan, there will be time enough to smooth over ruffled tempers and make whatever adjustments are possible. There is no assurance Democrats will organize, and there is no use, in Garner's opinion, of bringing their party differences into the open so soon if there is really no occasion for it.

G. O. P. Margin Two
Only four votes now separate the two parties, with the certainty that Democrats will fill vacancies caused by death in two strong Democratic districts in New York. This will cut the Republican margin to two votes. The line-up is 218 Republicans; 214 Democrats, one Farmer-Labor, and the two New York vacancies. About 10 members on an average die during a year, and this leaves the final line-up in doubt.

Garner has indicated previously that he would follow fairly closely the rule of seniority in case the Democrats won control.

But it is a delicate problem. The margin, even if Democrats have a majority, is necessarily going to be so narrow that a handful of Democrats could bolt the party and throw the House to the Republicans on organization. New York members could do this to gain their ends.

Republicans have found threats of a bolt very effective in the last few weeks in campaigning for rules liberalization and, in the case of Rep. Knutson, Minn., in seeking a committee chairmanship.

WINTER

Winter has beauty all her own
An ermine mantle around her throat,
Her trees with countless brilliant gemmed
her hedges glistening, silver hemmed.
Her fields a calm and peaceful sight
Beneath a counterpane of white.
The hills a crown of glory wear,
Flashing the silence that is there.
Wherever winter's tent is pitched
Something with beauty is enriched.
Upon the humblest twigs and stems
She pins her priceless diadems.
With dignity she sits her throne,
Sire of a beauty all her own.

W. R. C. Meeting Monday Afternoon

The Dixon Women's Relief Corps, No. 218, Auxiliary to the Grand Army of the Republic, held their regular meeting Monday afternoon with a fair attendance of members present and three always welcome Comrades in attendance.

During the business session, application for membership was read; several members reported calling on the sick and distributing clothing to the amount of $25.

Interesting national and departmental general orders were read and the President, Maud Hobbs, was appointed nation aide.

Past department president, Mrs. Nellie Eastman was again elected counselor for the ensuing year.

Mrs. Carrie Decker, executive chairman for December and January, gave a very gratifying report and thanked her committee for their assistance.

The corps voted to contribute $5 to the National Grand Army fund.

The president appointed the standing committees for the year, naming Mrs. Alice Bennett as chairman for relief and Mrs. Katherine White as chairman of the child welfare work.

Mrs. Hobbs gave a short talk and read a poem and spoke of the pleasure the corps received in having three Comrades present. Comrades Johnson and Richardson both gave short speeches and wished a most successful and happy new year for the corps.

In giving the names of the officers installed for the year 1931, in the January 21st issue of this paper, the corps press correspondent unintentionally omitted the name of the musician, Mrs. Nettie Conkley.

POET'S CORNER

Late Sunday afternoon, hurrying at night fall for "Waselander," in a soft, warm, clean snow-storm, prompted the following lines:

Oh, the snow, the beautiful snow,
Fling the sky, and the earth
below!

Over the house tops, over the street,
Over the heads of the people you meet;

Dancing, flirting, skimming along,
Beautiful snow, it can do nothing wrong.

Flying to kiss a fair lady's cheek;
Clinging to lips in a frolicsome
freak,

Beautiful snow, from the heavens
above,
Pure as an angel, and fickle as love.

Oh, the snow, the beautiful snow,
How the flakes gather and laugh
as they go!

Whirling about in its maddening fun
It plays in its glee with every one.

Chasing, laughing, hurrying by,
It lights up the face and it
sparkles the eye;

And even the dogs, with a bark and a bound,
Snap at the crystals that eddy around;

The town is alive and its heart in a glow,
To welcome the coming of beautiful snow.

How the wild crowd goes swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor
and song,

How the gay motors, like meteors flash by,
Bright for a moment, then lost to the eye;

Ringling, swinging, dashing they go
Over the crust of the beautiful snow;

Snow so pure when it falls from the sky
To be trampled in mud by the
by the crowd rushing by.

For of all that is near or about,
I know
There is nothing that's pure but the beautiful snow.

How strange it would be if the beautiful snow
Would fall on a sinner with no where to go;

How strange it would be, when night
comes again,
If the snow and the ice struck his desperate brain,

Fainting, freezing, dying alone;
To lie and to die is a terrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

Just An Old Indian Custom in America

By EMILY C. DAVIS

United Press Science Correspondent

Washington, Jan. 28.—(UP)—Spiritualistic meetings, with tips that rock and spirit-like voices that bring messages, are an old Indian custom in America. But for a modern American woman to be present at an Indian seance, that is something new.

How she has had the rare good fortune to observe a tipi-shaking held by Chippewa Indians was told by Miss Frances Densmore.

The tipi-shaking occurred during her latest field trip for the Bureau of Ethnology among the Chippewa Indians at Grand Portage, Minn.

The Indian settlement is remote from civilization and old customs survive.

In the tipi-shaking ceremony, the Indian medicine man, like a medium, is tied tightly, Miss Densmore explained. Then the medicine man sits down inside a little tipi, or pointed tent. He frees himself from the ropes that tie him and calls to the spirits to give him advice about how to treat his patient.

If the tipi begins to shake, as if a violent wind would tear it from its base, that means to the Indians that spirits are coming to talk with the medicine

man. The Indians outside hear voices in the tipi that sound like animals talking, and they identify these as the mud turtle, the snapping turtle, or other animals. Other voices may be identified as voices of people who live many miles away, or voices of the dead.

Miss Densmore and her sister observed the tipi-shaking as they were returning home across a field at dusk.

They watched it for almost an hour.

The next day the medicine man allowed Miss Densmore to examine the little tent. From this examination she was able to gain an idea as to how the tipi might be rocked by manipulation of the ropes.

NOT only as a healthful and de-

CLINICS FOR THE SOUL.

News that doctors of medicine and ministers of the gospel are going to join hands to establish a new sort of "clinic" in a church in Brooklyn comes as a reminder that mankind has not yet learned how to walk surely along all of the dark paths followed by the human spirit.

This clinic, according to the United Press, will treat nervous disorders, mental cases that skirt the borderline between sanity and insanity, and the like. The doctors will give such help as they can, and so will the ministers, each after his own fashion. Psycho-analysis and old-fashioned prayer, apparently, will go hand in hand.

There is something rather encouraging about this—coming, as it does, in an age when most of us incline toward taking our troubles to the family doctor instead of to the family pastor. It is encouraging, because it indicates a growing realization of the fact that ills of the soul are mysterious and shadowy, beyond exact definition; and while some of them can be cured by hydrotherapy or auto-suggestion, others must be treated by the good old method of prayer and fasting.

This, in turn, is by way of being an admission that we do not know quite as much about the ultimate mysteries as some of us have supposed; and a degree of humility is a becoming thing. There has been prevalent in recent years a cocksureness, an arrogant certainty, about things that had always before been regarded as stupendous puzzles. It has been asserted that the spotlight of modern science had lighted up all of the dark places of the human spirit. This attitude has not done us a great deal of good.

For the old truth remains; man is an incalculable creature, and the ills that beset his soul are not easily uncovered. Sometimes a series of visits to the psychiatrist will do the trick, and sometimes nothing avails but a humble and prayerful conference with his spiritual advisor. The doctors cannot do it all, and the wise ones know it. The humblest country minister occasionally has a better understanding of things than the expensive city specialist.

But in the past everyone concerned tried to pretend that the pastor and the physician occupied distinct fields, which never overlapped. Doctors did not tell their patients to go and talk with their ministers, nor did ministers tell their parishioners to go and get psycho-analyzed.

Nowadays we are beginning to know better. It will be interesting to see what success this clinic has. Our notion is that it ought to work well. And if the experiment fore-shadows a joining of hands of science and faith, it is so much the better.

WHO SAID WHAT?

Now that General Pershing has declared that he did not make that famous "Lafayette, we are here" speech in Paris during the war, we are beginning to have an uneasy and skeptical attitude toward famous remarks made by other great men. For Pershing's supposed speech was made in modern Paris, amid all of the modern devices for setting down exactly what happens; what possibilities for error must there not have been in the days before shorthand and the omnipresent newspaper reporter?

Did Lawrence, for example, really say, "Don't give up the ship"? Did Nelson really declare "England expects every man to do his duty"? Did Grant declare that he proposed to "fight it out on this line if it takes all summer"? Did Patrick Henry demand that he be given liberty or death?

All of this is disturbing. General Pershing really should not have disillusioned us. That "Lafayette, we are here" was too good a legend to kill. He ought to have left us believing in it.

THE OATH OF INNOCENCE.

New York's troubles with its crooked judges are, of course, New York's own concern, and they don't affect the rest of us very greatly; but there is, nevertheless, no reason why we provincials should not get a quiet chuckle over Mayor Walker's recent action in calling on his city's magistrates to take solemn oath that they did not buy their offices.

As a gesture, it probably will do a certain amount of good. Surely it can do no harm; and that, to a harassed mayor like Mr. Walker, must be something. But there is something humorous in it, just the same. Imagine a man who has paid $10,000 to some crooked politician for a judgeship being so conscience-stricken that he would fear to swear that he had not done so!

Then there's the professional punster who shunned recreation because he felt he was getting enough play on words.

Chicago police have installed a lie detector. Those who use it are said to swear by it.

No matter what you say of the manners of prize fighters, they seem to respect each other's rights.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Clowny rode, perched high in air, he now and then got quite a scare. One of the husky natives liked to tease the lad with tricks. He'd lift his shoulder pole up high and Clowny'd shout, "Oh my, oh my! I thought that I was going to fall. I hang on pretty slick."

"But, please don't let the long pole drop 'cause I will take an awful flop. And, anyway, I think I've had enough of this for now. Let's call to these out on the stream. I'll make them hear, 'cause I will scream. One of the others can try this. Then they won't start a row."

Then Clowny called out, "Come ashore. A treat for someone is in store." The long canoe slid to the bank and Clowny climbed right in. "That flanzana ride was fine. Take your turn now, 'cause I've had mine."

"You bet! I'm next," cried Copy. And he broke into a grin.

Thus, ere the day had turned to night, each happy little Tinymite had had his pole-and-shoulder ride. The whole bunch thought it fun. The natives then were paid real well, as Carpy shouted, "You've been swell. You've made this trip a big success, when all is said and done."

That night they reached a little town and, at a small hotel, flopped down to get a very restful sleep. At dawn they all were out upon the streets to see the sights. This happy band of Tinymites was always willing to find out what things were all about.

One thing they saw that looked real neat, was groups of baskets on the street, that had been woven very well. And they were strong ones, too. The Travel Man said, "Those are made by all those men. That is their trade. They make their living that way, and fine weaving's all they do."

Daily Health Talk

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and off Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

The human body is a complicated mechanism through which the blood circulates.

The nervous system is co-ordinated through the spinal cord and the brain. Hence a pain in one part of the body may be the manifestation of something seriously wrong in some other part, exactly as a bell ringing on the second floor of a house may indicate that a burglar is trying to enter a basement window. In a recent survey of the general subject of rheumatism, Dr. J. J. G. Giraldi, associated with a center for research in diseases of the heart in Bristol, England, describes a large number of acute rheumatic conditions in which the first symptoms of importance were related to the abdomen rather than to the joints or to the heart, as is quite commonly expected.

Thus in four cases concerning boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 18, the first symptoms of rheumatic fever were severe abdominal pain, vomiting and diarrhea, followed within a few months by the development of murmur in the heart and later by pains in the limbs and all of the symptoms of acute rheumatism.

A study of medical literature reveals that these symptoms have been described by medical investigators as far back as 1635 and that a series of studies of these symptoms were made in 1894 by several physi-cians.

Sometimes the pains are related particularly to the appendix, and it seems possible that the rheumatic infection may be on occasion manifest itself first in a severe form of appendicitis. On the other hand, it is quite possible that a severe rheumatic infection of the hip joint may cause pains which are much like those occurring in appendicitis.

Sir James MacKenzie, noted British investigator of diseases of the heart, emphasized repeatedly the importance of detecting the earliest possible symptoms of disease in order to accomplish what may be accomplished for its prevention and for its control.

It would seem to be especially important that children who complain of severe abdominal pain, with but slight fever and with but little other noticeable cause for the pain, be watched more carefully thereafter for the earliest signs of rheumatic conditions, particularly those affecting heart.

'SAFETY' THEME OF ADDRESS AT KIWANIS CLUB

Chicago Motor Club Official Speaker At
Weekly Session

H. J. Force of Chicago, Acting Director of Safety of the Chicago Motor Club and associate member of President Hoover's National Safety Council, was in Dixon Tuesday, the guest of District Manager Clark Iles, and yesterday afternoon addressed the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club, using as his subject, "Public and Highway Safety."

"The general motoring public is not adverse to having safety measures talked of in their homes but are not susceptible to being talked to publicly concerning these same subjects, the speaker stated.

He said that 59,000 persons had been killed by motor cars during the 24-month period of 1929-30 and that during the same period a total of 1,065,000 persons were seriously injured in motor car accidents, the majority of which were hospital cases.

Cited Statistics

"These statistics prove to us conclusively that it is time to give some serious thought to this subject of motor car safety," Mr. Force said.

"Last year 9,000 children under the age of 15 years were killed by motor cars. This is something else to think about. At the present time there are about 1,000 safety engineers in the United States trying to alleviate the suffering caused by these accidents. There are many angles from which to size up the situation. The first of these we believe is that of proper enactment of laws. By this we do not mean any more laws for we know that we have altogether too many laws at the present time, but what we desire most is a proper driving law. Several vital issues are to come before the Illinois legislature at the present session. The driver's license law probably is the most important of these.

In submitting this law, a country wide investigation has been made in states where drivers' laws are in effect. At the present time Indiana is attempting to repeal their driver's law. After three years of study we believe that a proper law of this kind has been developed. It would not work a hardship on any driver as the fee would be but 25 cents, but it would contain strict suspension and revocation clauses. "Ninety per cent of the motor car drivers today are penalized for what the other ten per cent do. By the driver's law, no hardship would be encountered by any driver."

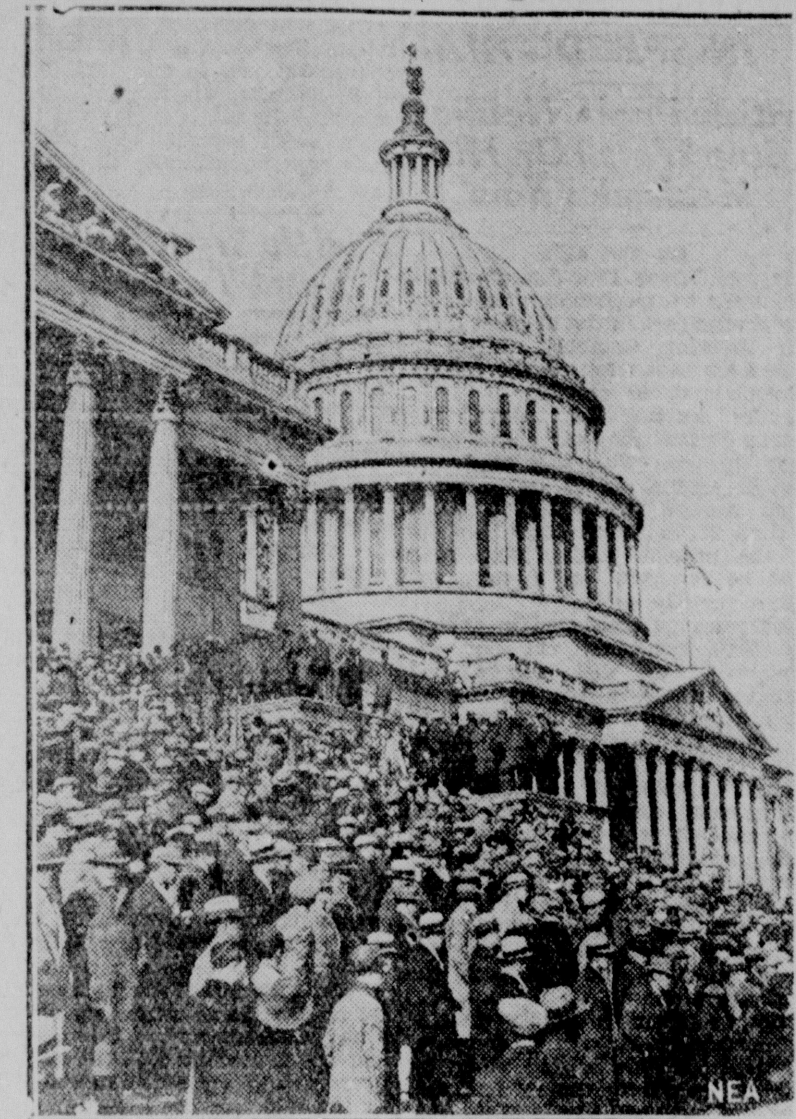

For Wider Highways
Mr. Force strongly advocated the program of widening of important state highways to a width of 40 feet in the northern section of the state, calling attention to the Lincoln Highway, state route 6, which passes through Dixon. This route he said, was one of the oldest in the state and is in its present condition inadequate to handle the traffic. He urged a 40-foot super-highway from Chicago to a point west of Sterling for the Lincoln Highway.

Referring to the state gasoline tax and the redistribution which is planned to provide one cent for each state, county and cities, the speaker said the Kiwanis that the state should retain the two cents as at present, but be required to maintain and accept the obligation of all state highways from beginning to end and through the cities.

Recklessness, he said, caused more accidents than speed. He told his listeners that he believed that the present generation would see a 40-foot double deck highway going out from Chicago, and assured those who heard him that this was not an idle dream, but that the plans for such a highway had been drawn.

Referring to the handling of traffic at the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago, the speaker said that no less than 350,000 motor cars were expected daily during the period of that event. In all probability motorists driving to Chicago would be forced to park their cars 15 miles

March on Capitol to Urge Cash Bonus

This shows more than 1000 World War veterans who paraded to the national capital at Washington with their petitions for enactment of a law making their bonus immediately available in the form of cash. Speeches favoring the legislation, which has been disapproved by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, were being made as this picture was taken.

from the city and then proceed on motor buses he said. Plans for the parking and handling of this traffic are already being considered by a responsible committee.

Education, Mr. Force stated, is the final essential in reducing the number of accidents by motor car drivers in the country. Last year, he said, the lowest number of children in Chicago were killed by motor cars since 1919. Children are more easily taught the lesson of safety than adults. He called attention to the necessity for road courtesy among drivers. He quoted statistics to show that 55 per cent of the persons killed by cars were pedestrians and that in Chicago, the number ran as high as 85 per cent.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

To The Dixon Evening Telegraph:
This letter from Berlin, may be of interest to some of your readers, as it is a criticism of my allusions to the origin and barbarities, of the World War, in my recent publication. The critic is a prominent Berliner, who views things altogether from the German standpoint. During the ten years, I was in Germany, I was asked a hundred times, "why did you Americans go into the war?" In my book I try to tell them the reasons. The fact is, that a larger percentage of Americans of German ancestry, enlisted in that war, than of any other nationality. Most of their ancestors, like Carl Schurz, and Frantz Siegel, emigrated to America, because they hated a monarchical form of government, and were glad to join the Allies, to help free the common people of their Fatherland, from the imperial autocracy, and military despotism, that was oppressing them. It is evident that the German soldiers, and citizens cherished the same opinion, at the close of the war, or there would not be a German republic today; with the grand old Marshal Hindenburg, as the honored President. With real pleasure, I welcome these criticisms.

Most Sincerely in F. G. and L.

MELLOW MOON ROMANCES END IN RENO COURTS

Amazing Reasons for Seeking Divorce Revealed by Complaints

By EARL H. LEIF
United Press Staff Correspondent
Reno, Nevada—(UP)—Youthful romances that begin somewhere 'neath a mellow moon and reach their crescendo at the altar, have their finale in the cold gloom of Reno divorce courts for a most amazing assortment of reasons.

From the four corners of the nation come men and women whose roseate dreams of "living happily ever after" have been shattered.

A surprisingly large number of marriages fail because couples cannot agree on the problem of baths. The spouse will not take a bath or wants too many. One woman's husband would let her bathe only once a month. Dozens of complaints have cited disagreements over the bath.

Matrimonial Rocks
Nagging, drunkenness, "in-laws," swearing and physical violence, wandering affections, desertion, non-support, ignoring friends, kissing and incompatible social life are the rocks upon which most ships of matrimony are wrecked.

A few reasons for seeking divorce selected from complaints filed in a single day, follow:

"The defendant threw a steak which he did not like against the wall thereby disfiguring the wall."

"She smashed his violin, radio dental work, and bit him 50 times."

Silent on Marriage
"When plaintiff and defendant were on their honeymoon, he sent three postal cards to friends and did not mention he was married thereby revealing his utter lack of attention to plaintiff."

"The defendant derived extreme pleasure from the acts of pouring buckets filled with water down the plaintiff's back while she lay sleeping."

"She refused to diet or exercise and as a result added weight, from 122 to 196 pounds during the first six months of their marriage."

"The defendant, after 50 years of happily married life to the plaintiff began to accuse the plaintiff of infidelity although he was 72 and gave her no cause to make such accusations."

JOHN D. GOLD, EDITOR OF THE WILSON (N. C.) TIMES, SAYS:

"It is a certain fact that advertising will play a large part in bringing back prosperity, for, undoubtedly, lack of consumption is responsible for the depression that now exists."

"There must be found a way to increase consumption for if we do not certainly there must be a slowing up of production, and unless we do slow up production prices will find such a low level that it will be impossible to secure a profit on anything we make, and in consequence wages will go to the lowest level and in turn that will accelerate the downward trend of products."

"With the rest of the world boycotting us on account of a high tariff and building tariff walls of their own, our exports have declined fifty per cent and this throws back on us only our home market to provide our revenue and business. It is our exports that have made us rich, and the balance of trade which has been in our favor. We will be eating ourselves up if our foreign markets are closed to us and we cannot sell at a living price our surplus of farm products and factory wares."

"THEREFORE, THE NECESSITY FOR INCREASING THE DEMAND, AND IT MUST BE DONE THROUGH ADVERTISING."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Blessed is the man that trusteth in the Lord.—Jeremiah 17:7.

I would sooner walk in the dark, and hold hard to a promise of my God, than trust in the light of the brightest day that ever dawned.—Alexander MacLaren.

Benham's Telephone Calls Investigated
Belvidere, Ill., Jan. 27—(UP)—Long distance telephone calls made by Albert William Benham in connection with his mysterious scheme that brought investors as high as 50 per cent dividends in a quick turnover were investigated by the Boone county grand jury today.

Twenty witnesses including officials of the Belvidere and Rockford telephone companies were called to testify before the grand jury.

State's Attorney A. J. Strom said that Benham would not be asked to testify.

Telephone officials were asked for information regarding calls believed to have been placed by Benham to his associates.

"I do not know whether our investigation will be completed today," Strom said, "but if anything develops in the future, the grand jury may be recalled to reopen its inquiry."

Four Counterfeiters Taken In St. Louis

St. Louis, Jan. 27—(AP)—Two men and two women are held by federal authorities here as members of a gang of counterfeiters that raised $2 certificates to currency of $10 denomination and passed about 25 of the tampered bills in the St. Louis district in the last month.

Irving Nicholson, 25, his wife, Aida 21, and Joseph McMahon, 30, were arrested in Alton last night after one of the men tried to pass a bill at the Grand Theatre. Mrs. Etta Worsham was arrested at her home here on information that she had accompanied the others on a trip to Collinsville where bills were passed.

Police, searching the home of the three on Page Boulevard seized a quantity of counterfeiting material, inks, pens, brushes, erasers, a small bottle of glue, tracing papers and three counterfeit 50-cent pieces.

One of the government agents said the bogus $10 bills were of such good workmanship that some had been accepted by bank tellers. The prisoners will be turned over to federal authorities in Chicago, headquarters for the territory in which Alton lies.

START STEAM-UP FOR NEXT HEAVY WEIGHT BATTLE

Ballyhoo Begins With the Arrival Of Title Holder In U. S.

By L. S. Cameron
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Jan. 28.—(UP)—The big steam-up for the next world's heavyweight championship bout started today with the arrival of Max Schmeling, generally regarded as the title-holder, in New York after a stormy passage from his native Germany.

Schmeling was greeted aboard the North German Lloyd liner Europa at Quarantine last night by a detachment of boxing writers. He had a lot of things to say. Most of them were present. Some were edited by his manager, Joe Jacobs, who talks English more fluently than the German Max. Schmeling is scheduled to defend his title against William Lawrence Stribling in June and probably in Chicago. He said he was pleased that this bout had been arranged. "I had just as soon meet Jack Sharkey as Stribling," Max said. "The match was made by Jacobs. He's my manager. He arranges the bouts and I do the fighting. No, I'm not the least bit afraid of Stribling should have met in an elimination bout, with me meeting the winner, but I'm just as well pleased as I can be."

Likes His Manager
Schmeling took time out here to explain how much confidence he has in Jacobs. He said that after his contract last two and one half years expired recently he renewed the contract for five more years. "You see," Jacobs said by way of interlude, "there are three of us in this. We have a motto. It's all for one, and one for all."

"And that one is Joe Jacobs," a boxing writer suggested. "Anyway," Max went on, "I feel great. I have lots more confidence in myself than I did last year."

Schmeling did look fully fit. He appeared more healthy than he did when he came over last year and won the title from Jack Sharkey on a foul. He said he had been doing a lot of road work, playing some golf and sparring twice weekly. He said he weighed 192 pounds, just three pounds more than when he met Sharkey.

Asked about the low blow struck by Sharkey which gave the title to Schmeling, Max said he felt the effects of that blow from June until November. He said he was anxious to start on his tour of the United States which will begin on Feb. 9 and continue through April 17. After that he will begin to prepare for his title defense.

The winner of the Schmeling-Stribling bout is committed to meet Primo Carnera, large Italian heavyweight. Of him Max said: "I think he is a good fighter."

Schmeling was accompanied by his trainer Max Machon. He brought along a small daschund, "Cully."

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Ed Chmielewski, star guard, who finished his three years competition on Wisconsin's basketball team last week, will rejoin his old mates of the "95 pound days." The Chicago big five team, Chmielewski started his basketball career with these boys averaging 95 pounds in weight years ago and later starred at Lane Tech high school here.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jack (Kid) Berg has recovered his good health and will be able to go through with his ten round bout with Herman Perlick, in Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Berg has been suffering for several days from a rheumatic condition in his back and left shoulder and it was feared for a time a substitute would have to be found. Heat-ray lamps have cleared up the British windmill's condition, his manager says.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The famous master mind of John McGraw has evolved a new system for getting the New York Giants into their training camp on time. A player who is late will be fined one day's pay for each 24 hours of his absence after he is due to report at San Antonio.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jose Santa, Portuguese giant, standing six feet, nine inches and weighing 265 pounds, will make his mid-western debut at the Chicago Stadium Feb. 4, meeting Knute Hansen, Kenosha, Wis., heavyweight in a ten round bout supporting the Canzonetti-Hess match.

Since invading America Santa has been victorious in twelve starts. Lou Scozza, hard hitting Buffalo light heavyweight, withdrew today from his match with Larry Johnson, Chicago Negro, leaving the promoters to scramble for a substitute. Marty Gallagher, Washington heavyweight, may get the assignment.

Canton, O., Jan. 28.—(UP)—Burling Grimes, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, was a free man today insofar as matrimony is concerned. Mrs. Florence Ruth Grimes was granted a divorce here late yesterday on charges of gross neglect of duty. The action was uncontested.

No agreement could be reached on a property settlement or alimony and the court has taken this phase under advisement. A suit brought by Grimes for divorce last year, while a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates, was denied.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 28.—(UP)—A wrestling exhibition between Bull Montana of Hollywood and John Kilonis of Chicago ended in a riot last night after Montana was awarded the decision on a foul.

The bout was rough from the start and Kilonis took the first fall in 23 minutes. After 15 minutes of wrestling for the second fall, Kilonis struck Montana with his fist and Montana retaliated by knocking Kilonis half out of the ring.

Referee "Cyclone" Fox interfered to award the match to Montana on a foul, which provoked an attack on him by Kilonis. Montana went to the aid of Fox, some spectators rushed to help Kilonis, others piled into the ring to help Fox and Montana, and a free-for-all slugging match in which nobody suffered serious injury resulted.

Pupil Beats His Teacher In Match
Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Johnny Layton's three-year-old reign over the three-cushion billiard world has been ended by his own pupil.

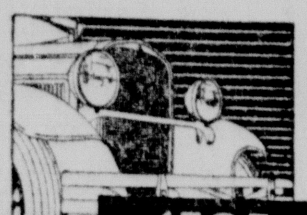

Allen Hall of Chicago, who learned the fine arts of the difficult game from Layton in a St. Louis pool room years ago, last night defeated his teacher, 50 to 43 in a great up and down match that lasted 40 innings.

The defeat definitely shoved Layton out of the championship tussle. Hall, the "baby" of tournament, will meet another Chicagoan, Arthur Thurnblad, in a match for the title tomorrow night.

Each has captured five out of six matches. Thurnblad, who accepted his only defeat of the tournament so far from Layton by one point, gained the championship finals yesterday by defeating Otto Reisel of Philadelphia, who with Layton has dominated the three-cushion world for five years by a surprisingly one-sided score of 50 to 32. Thurnblad clicked off a cluster of seven and two runs of five. The match finally became a runaway.

NOT SO QUIET ALONG WESTERN COLLEGE FRONT

The Big Ten Conference Is Sizzling With Excitement Today

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—All is not quiet along the Western Conference front.

In the wake of the era of peace and tranquility that followed Iowa's reinstatement to good standing last spring, many internal disputes and ruptures have broken out. The athletic group, composed of ten of the leading midwest universities, sized up with excitement today.

Down at Indiana, Coach Pat Page was involved in a dispute with the University Athletic Board over his resignation and salary differences. It may eventually affect the entire conference.

A sharp reverberation of its explosion from the conference was heard over at Iowa where the Educational committee of the state House of Representatives demanded an investigation of charges that Walter Jessup, president of the university, was largely responsible for the conference's ouster.

At Wisconsin, the controversy over the retention of Glen Thisthwaite as head football coach refused to die. Many alumni still fought his backers and while the Faculty Athletic Committee refused to dismiss him at its meeting December 1, the fight against him was carried on.

Added to these cases were the agitation here and there among alumni to get coaches with winning football and basketball ways and an investigation by the conference of the athletic eligibility of several football players—an investigation still marked by secrecy as far as names were concerned.

Page contended that when he came to Indiana in 1926, a small group of friendly alumni volunteered to pay half of his salary of between $12,000 and $13,000 a year. When he failed to place a winning team, he said, they broke their promise, the university absorbing the full contract. Subsequently, he said, the University gave him another contract through the year of 1931 for $13,000. Since he was requested to Page contended further, the university owed him $16,750, including his 1931 salary.

The University Board of Control, however, is fighting his demand, claiming it owes him salary only up to April 1 when his services will be officially taken over by E. C. Hayes, track coach and freshman football coach for the past seven years. Page indicated he would carry his fight to Western Conference heads and, failing there, to the courts.

Twenty charges were leveled at President Jessup of Iowa by the Educational Institutions committee, which was prompted in its investigation by a newspaper "expose" of athletic conditions at Iowa before and after the Big Ten ouster.

So far as known no known investigation has been undertaken by the conference officially in the Page and Jessup cases.

PATENTED PROCESS BRINGS OUT FINER FLAVOR IN COFFEE

Controlled Roasting Gives Hills Bros. Coffee Flavor No Other Coffee Has

As everybody knows, the flavor of coffee varies according to the way it is brewed. Especially disappointing is the result when coffee stays on the fire too long or is taken off too soon. Similar unsatisfactory results can occur in the roasting of coffee. If the blend is roasted too long or not enough there is a noticeable difference in flavor between the two lots. Even with watchful care such variation is exceedingly difficult to prevent when coffee is roasted in large quantities.

Realizing this, Hills Bros. originated and patented a continuous process which roasts coffee a few pounds at a time, instead of in bulk. The quantity of coffee passing into the roaster does not vary. The speed of operation and the temperature remain the same with the result that Hills Bros. Coffee is absolutely uniform and has a flavor no other coffee has.

Hills Bros. Coffee never "goes stale" because it is packed in vacuum. By this process air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can. Sold by grocers everywhere.

Has Policy To Restore Great Outdoors To All

New York—The duPont objective is a better outdoors. Its policy will be to help find ways and means of achieving that end satisfactorily to all parties—the land-owner, the sportsman and the general public.

Thus A. Felix duPont, vice president and general manager of the Smokeless Powder Department of the E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co., Inc., of Wilmington, Delaware, summed up the policy of the company in an announcement made public today.

"The real movement now under way in this country is not concerned with game restoration alone, for it embraces also the conservation of non-game species, forests, parks, waterways, fish—in short the great outdoors," Mr. duPont said.

"America has the environment to raise an abundant game and fish crop, the means to pay for it, and the love of sport to assure that successful production will be awarded."

"There are many conflicting theories as to how to bring these factors into productive relationship with each other. The duPont company does not know which theory is best, but it proposes to aid in testing the most promising ones to the test of experience. The public can then decide for itself."

"There are some—but not enough—biological facts available on game and fish production. We propose to assist in making these facts known; to promote research for other facts needed, and to help in training men to apply them," Mr. duPont continued.

"From a careful study of conditions in this country it is apparent that game conservation is of vital interest to a large percentage of our population. There is a widespread demand for constructive effort to restore the wild life resources. Recognizing this, the duPont Company has built and is maintaining its own field force to advance this important work."

"The lack of certainty as to the best method of procedure has led to the adoption of our company's policy. The development of a better outdoors is primarily a civic interest and responsibility shared by all. In adopting this policy we believe we are taking the best and quickest way to advance this worthy cause," Mr. duPont concluded.

Seth Gordon, president of the American Game Association, in commenting on the announcement said: "This is one of the greatest forward steps taken in conservation. If more of our outstanding business firms will take like action the success of the conservation movement is assured."

TIRE DRILL TO BE IMPORTANT IN SPEED TRIAL

British Racer Holding Stop Watch On His Mechanics Now

By Ted Gill
Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Tire drills by mechanics promise to play a vital part in the attempt Captain Malcolm Campbell hopes to make here next week on the world's automobile speed record.

Under existing regulations, the veteran British race car driver must make one run with the wind and another against it at an average of 231 miles an hour to shatter the present mark. Both runs must be completed in a given 30-minute period.

Every second consumed in changing tires, inspecting the car, replenishing the fuel supply and changing water in the radiator at the conclusion of the first run will be precious.

Rule Will Stand
The 30-minute rule, specified by the international racing body in Paris, was made to prevent a driver from taking advantage of any change in the wind that might increase his average speed. Otherwise, he might make one run with the wind, then wait until it changed in the opposite direction and run with the wind again.

Campbell plans to put his crew of six mechanics through a series of tire drills, holding a stop watch on each to determine which four can work the fastest. Because of the risk that the tires might be cut or worn on the first run, Campbell will install new ones for the second run.

He brought 36 tires with him from England, each tested to stand a speed of 300 miles an hour.

Campbell recently petitioned the international racing organization to change the rule to one hour instead of 30 minutes, but the petition was rejected. He said the rule was made when speed records were low and there was no necessity of changing tires between runs.

Scuffle With Boys Fatal To Aged Man

Beardstown, Ill., Jan. 27.—(AP)—George Greenwood and Vincent Stewart have been arrested on charges of resisting an officer and are to be arraigned on that charge as the result of the death of John Cooper, 70-year-old Virginia night watchman. Sunday night after a scuffle with the boys when they resisted arrest.

A coroner's jury had returned a verdict of "death from apoplexy," and did not recommend holding the youths. After the scuffle with the boys the aged watchman went into a cafe, slumped from a chair in which he was sitting and died. He is survived by six sons.

"TOO MUCH GOVT."
Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 27.—(UP)—Grain trading on United States exchanges is suffering from "too much government interference," Arthur W. Cutten, famous Chicago trader, said today on his arrival here to negotiate for the purchase of a membership in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

"Winnipeg has the only free market on the North American continent," Cutten said. He predicted that the United States Federal Farm Board would cease to function after the 1930 crop has been handled.

Accuses Solon Of Soliciting Bribe

Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 27.—(UP)—Anticipating the filing of bribery charges against him, State Representative E. L. Britain resigned today as a member of the legislative committee investigating charges of irregularity against State Treasurer Larry Brunk.

Britain was arrested last night after Brunk accused him of accepting $400 as first payment of $2,000 to "fix everything" so that the committee would return a report favorable to the Treasurer.

As Britain was taken into custody he was reported to have thrown away a roll of $400 in bills.

County Prosecutor Mike Sevier announced that Brunk was prepared to file formal charges against Britain of asking and receiving a bribe.

In resigning, Britain denied the charges and said: "I feel that this was done in an attempt to defame and ruin me, and to discredit the members of the committee and cripple its inquiry."

According to Brunk, who was removed from office last fall but later reinstated when Gov. Henry S. Caulfield's action was held unconstitutional, Britain came to his office last week and assured him that a favorable report would be returned for "a sum."

Brunk said he then wrote a letter to Sevier and detailed his plan for trapping "those attempting the extortion." The plan involved a first payment of $400 and an agreement to pay $600 more February 1 and the remaining $1,000 February 5.

THOMAS J. McLAUGHLIN, M. D.
WOONSOCKET, May 21st, 1930.

The American Cigar Company,
4111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:—

Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of "spit" or "Saliva." There are many unsanitary processes still employed in industry which are very difficult to eliminate without the aid of industry itself.

Not only the public officer charged with the responsibility of improving conditions of health generally but every one immediately recognizes that the use of "spit" in the manufacture of cigars is not only unsanitary but has latent dangers to health of great magnitude. I feel it incumbent upon myself, therefore, as a public officer charged with protecting the public health to use this means of telling you that in campaigning against such a method of manufacture you are rendering a public service.

I sincerely hope that your example and your campaign will compel the abandonment of such methods of manufacture of cigars by the industry generally and the adoption by all of the manufacturers of sanitary methods in the manufacture of cigars.

You are at liberty to use this expression of my commendation in the furtherance of your laudable campaign for better sanitation.

Yours very truly
Thos. J. McLaughlin, M.D.
Chairman State Board of Health
State of Rhode Island.

SEVEN REALTY DEALS TOTAL 300 MILLIONS

Four of the Transactions Occur During 1930 Depression

Chicago.—(UP)—The seven largest real estate deals ever consummated involved more than $300,000,000, according to the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The association points out as especially significant the fact that four of these transactions occurred in 1930, during the economic depression.

The large single transaction in Cleveland dates from 1928 to 1930 and included the assembling of 35 acres of land a site for the 52-story Builders Exchange building, the Medical Arts and Midland Bank building, the Highbee Department Store and the Cleveland Hotel addition. The amount involved at present for the purchase of the land and buildings totals $160,000,000, the association said. This was listed by the Cleveland Real Estate Board as a single transaction.

"Nasty Corner"
In Cincinnati before the Civil War the intersection of Fifth and Vine streets was known as the "Nasty Corner." Last year the site at Vine, Fifth and Race streets, including "Nasty Corner," was leased to the Starrett Investing Corporation of New York for 30 years at an annual rental of $800,000. This transaction giving the site a valuation of $15,000,000. A $16,000,000 building of 48 stories, a 28-story hotel, a 27-story automatic garage and two department stores are now under construction on this site.

The largest transaction in the history of Chicago, the association revealed, occurred in 1928 when the Continental Bank building was sold to the Utilities Power and Light Corporation for a reported $20,000,000.

Back in 1879 in Seattle, Wash., A. Denny and his wife Mary invested $1 in a lot now located at the corner of Fourth Avenue, Pine Street and Westlake Avenue, which last year was leased for long terms involving a total of $60,000,000, the largest rental per front basis ever recorded in Seattle.

Birmingham Deal
Birmingham, Ala., recorded an important deal last year when the 25 remaining feet of the 150 x 140 property at the corner of North 20th Street and Third Avenue was sold for $1,915,000.

Los Angeles' largest transaction is represented by long term leases for $60,000,000 covering the property at the southwest corner of Seventh and Flower Streets and running to the corner of Seventh and Figueroa Streets.

San Francisco's largest transaction, occurring in 1925 involved $4,500,000 paid for parcels at the corner of Market, Eighth and Mission Streets for a new site for the city's largest department store.

Fire That Destroyed $1,000,000 Relics

Rare American historical documents vanished in the flames which consumed the main building of the Polish National Alliance College at Cambridge Springs, Pa. Here is a striking photo of the spectacular fire as it raged through the structure, destroying relics valued by faculty members at $1,000,000. Among the documents was a collection of letters exchanged between George Washington and distinguished Poles during the American Revolution.

taxes in Ogle county, entailing the figuring of many thousands of items for the twenty-five townships and the many school districts of the county. Extending the tax in a county the size of Ogle, with an assessed valuation of over fifty million dollars is no small job. When it comes to extending taxes there is no middle ground, the figures must be right.

In the main the tax rates in the various incorporated cities and villages in the county show a decrease, to be exact six decreases to three increases. Mt. Morris and Rochelle each receive a tax boost of fourteen cents and Forreston twelve, while Adeline draws a reduction of thirty-seven cents, Creston a decrease of thirty cents, Creston and Byron each decreases of seven cents, Stillman Valley a slight reduction of three cents and Polo a decrease of two cents. The following table gives the rate for 1929 and 1930:

Mount Morris	1930	1929
Byron	$3.90	$3.76
Forreston	3.39	3.56
Oregon	3.60	3.48
Rochelle	4.00	4.30
Polo	4.44	4.30
Stillman Valley	4.11	4.13
Creston	3.04	3.07
Adeline	3.10	3.17
	4.22	4.59

The above rate as given for each incorporated city or village for 1930 is levied against each one hundred dollars assessed valuation of property in the city or village and is to be collected by the County Collector.

The township rate in the above cities ranges all the way from four cents in Byron and Adeline to 19 cents in Oregon, which is the highest. Rochelle is next with a rate of 16 cents.

The railroads whose lines operate through Ogle county have an assessed valuation for 1930 of $6,509,362. Take the taxes paid by the railroads out of the aggregate in Ogle county and the balance of tax payers would be jolted somewhat by the increase made in their taxes. Add to the taxes paid by railroads in this county, the payrolls they maintain and it doesn't take long to figure that the railroads are entitled to at least an exen break from the public when it comes to buying transportation.

They employ and pay men to maintain the lines which operate in competition do so over highways maintained at public expense.

The total assessed valuation for Ogle county for the year 1930 is $50,024,582, as against $50,524,228 for 1929, showing a decrease of $489,646, close to a half million dollars.

Total assessed valuation of the telephone, telegraph and utility companies in Ogle for the year 1930 is $320,650.

The law states that the county clerk shall extend the tax and deliver the books to the county collector on the second Monday in January, but it fails to specify when the State Tax Commission shall send the railroad valuations out to the county clerks, hence they arrive all the way from January 10 to February 4. Last year the commission took its sweet time and sent out the valuations to Ogle County the fore part of February. After this many thousands of items must be figured and entered on the books before they can be turned over to the collector.

...a hundred times a day...

A HUNDRED times a day he suffered the agonies of embarrassment as his conversation was interrupted by "Pardon Me's," as he turned away to stifle gas. It had been that way for years. No matter what he ate, it caused gas and discomfort. His stomach constantly caused him pain. He could hardly hear the idea of food. He was irritable and nervous—couldn't sleep. A friend suggested Tanlac. He tried it. In a few days the gaseous condition left him. His appetite returned. He began to feel loads better in every way. He slept like a boy.

Stomach gas is not only painful as well as embarrassing but it may be the warning of dangerous stomach troubles. Get rid of it—straighten out the condition that causes it with Tanlac. Few preparations have Tanlac's wonderful record of success in quickly relieving gas discomfort and stomach distress. It has helped thousands and it must help you too, or your druggist will return your money.

Don't neglect your child's COUGH or COLD

TRY this milder "counter-irritant." Good old Musterole now made milder for babies and small children. So pleasant to use and so reliable—apply Children's Musterole freely to the affected area once every hour for five hours. That's the safe, sure treatment that millions of mothers and leading doctors and nurses recognize and endorse.

Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve that penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

That's why this famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Keep full strength Musterole on hand for adults and Children's Musterole for the little tots.

Browning's Auto Figures In Suit

New York, Jan. 27.—(AP)—If Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Browning's sleuths saw what they saw they saw in "Daddy" Browning's Rolls Royce they have better eyes than the camera.

So his attorney contended yesterday in opposing Mrs. Browning's plea for $20,000 counsel fees by which she hopes to get a divorce on the grounds of improper conduct.

Fourteen photographs of the limousine, taken from every possible angle were submitted to Supreme Court Justice Hattin in an effort to show that it is impossible to see into the tonneau. More than that, it was shown, a plate glass windshield between the front and rear seats prevents even the chauffeur from taking a peek through his mirror.

Browning's attorney also submitted affidavits testifying that Peaches is in a sound financial condition. She occupies a $250-a-month apartment in a fashionable section, it was averred, and she recently had it re-decorated at a cost of $6000. Some of her worldly goods was listed as follows: 30 minkish gowns, up to $350 each. 15 pairs of shoes, $15 to $20 a pair. Fur coats and clothes, $20,000. Jewelry, $10,000 and more.

Decision was reserved and both sides were directed to file briefs today.

STUDEBAKER

—pioneer and pacemaker

IN FREE WHEELING, the greatest advancement since the electric starter, the pioneering spirit of Studebaker reaches the high point of 79 years of pacemaking tradition.

Free Wheeling with positive gear control harnesses momentum—saves gasoline and oil, saves chassis strain, and makes driving a continuous, delightful thrill. The two finest cars in America—Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln—have followed Studebaker's lead and adopted Free Wheeling. All cars must eventually offer it.

But Free Wheeling is only one of a long list of today's fine car essentials which Studebaker pioneered.

Studebaker introduced the full-power muffler, greatly reducing engine back-pressure and thus increasing effective horsepower.

Studebaker was first to provide ball-bearing spring shackles, which can never squeak nor rattle but which permit unhampered spring and shock-absorber action. Sealed in lubricant, they need no attention whatever for 20,000 miles at a time.

Studebaker was first to eliminate 90 per cent of motor roar with a carburetor silencer. Formerly motor roar was thought to emanate from the exhaust. Studebaker engineers isolated it as carburetion noise—and hushed it.

Studebaker brought out a Light Six when others in its field were featuring Fours—a Straight Eight when other large makers were committed to Sixes.

Studebaker pioneered the following advancements when 82% to 100% of other makers did not offer them—Timken bearings, the Lanchester vibration damper, steering-ignition lock, hydrostatic gas gauge, balloon tires, oil filter, engine heat indicator on dash, chromium plating, positive fuel pump, one-piece steel core steering wheel.

Thus has Studebaker, pioneer and pacemaker, merited the outstanding leadership it holds today.

Studebaker cars are priced f. o. b. factory from $795 to $2600

RACE RIOT IN REFORMATORY: NINE MISSING

Ill - Feeling Between Whites And Blacks Breaks Forth

Annandale, N. J., Jan. 28.—(UP)—Nine inmates of the New Jersey state reformatory for boys were missing today and nine others were injured after a race riot broke out among the 400 boys of the institution.

The fighting started in one of the cottages in which the youths were housed, and quickly spread to the others, and to the unwarmed ward. The unarmed guards were unable to stop it until state police arrived. During the confusion about 75 boys escaped, but all except nine returned or were captured.

Ill feeling had been evident between the white and Negro inmates for some time. During the study hour last night a fight started in a cottage which contained about 60 inmates and four guards. On of the combatants was white, and the other a Negro.

Within a few seconds all the other boys in the room had joined the battle. Windows were broken, the doors torn from their hinges, chairs and tables broken up for clubs, and a fire hose was cut into sections and used as a weapon.

The combat spread out into the yard, and soon inmates of all the other cottages joined in. Troops were called from the Somerville and the Lambertville stations, and subdued the riot.

Before one of the largest basketball crowds seen in Compton, Lee and Center courts fought it out for third place, the former winning by 23 to 14. The championship game between Steward and Compton was not so close as the games in the afternoon. Steward's superior height and under-the-basket shots gave them the game, and the trophy by the score of 45 to 22.

J. P. Campbell refereed the entire affair in his customary satisfactory manner. He picked the following "All Star" teams: Mullins (Lee) and (Steward) Daur (Steward) W. Chen (Compton) Forward; Jordan (Lee) Guards; Kette and Moore (Steward) A. Mortenson (Lee Center) and Herman (Lee).

The Sportsmen's trophy was awarded to Lee by a vote of the superintendents and the referee. A new feature of the affair this year was the serving of supper by the high school girls. The girls will take the proceeds to pay for gym equipment for their own use. They served an excellent lunch in very good fashion in the high school study hall. They succeeded in their venture both financially and otherwise.

The tournament is an excellent advertisement of the school and the town.

Monday was the first day of the second half of the year. Two classes finished their work and one new class begins. Advanced algebra and advanced civics are the two classes just finished. The juniors take up the study of economics for the remainder of the year.

Enrollment in the high school was increased by the enrolling of Cleland Buchanan who will be a member of the sophomore class. It is hoped that he will help out in basketball also.

Fred Gilmore, recently elected as vice president of the First National Bank, here, attended the American Bankers' banquet held at the Palmer House in Chicago during the past week.

The committee of the Women's Club on immunization from diphtheria by the toxin-antitoxin inoculation met one evening last week and outlined a plan of work for aiding the state Department of Health in the movement to stamp out this dread disease. They found that the following article well stated the fundamental facts concerning the disease and its prevention:

"Diphtheria, that disease which annually takes more children's lives than any other ailment, could be entirely wiped out in a very few years if every child received the proper preventive treatment during its first year of life.

This preventive treatment consists of administering at weekly intervals three injections under the skin of the arm a mixture called toxin-antitoxin. The toxin-antitoxin stimulates the body to manufacture an antitoxin which neutralizes the effects of the diphtheria germs, should the child be exposed to the disease. The antitoxin remains the body for several years, perhaps for life.

Since between 80 and 85 per cent of all cases of diphtheria and more than 55 per cent of the deaths of the disease occur in children less than five years of age, the protective treatment of toxin-antitoxin should be given very early in life. The ideal time is as soon after six months of age as possible. The physician should administer both the Schick test and the toxin-antitoxin.

In connection with these facts it is interesting to note the number of cases and deaths from diphtheria in Lee county in the last five years:

1925	1926	1927	1928	1929
Cases	4	5	3	4

Group immunization, that is, administering the toxin-antitoxin to a large group of children at one time and place is fast being recognized as the most effective method of ridding the country of the disease. Certain northern European countries have been doing this for years, and our American cities are now having it done. Now it is up to the rural communities to follow the same plan.

In January, 1930, the children of Lee school were immunized. To be given Friday evening, January 30, in the M. E. church dining room by the Woman's club, country sausage, pancakes, coffee, and with all the appropriate trimmings. Any person who will eat twenty pancakes will receive a prize.

Be sure to meet "Carnelia Pickle" Friday evening, February 20. The restaurant has been sold by its owner, Mrs. Mae Bradshaw, to Dr. B. C. Powell of Sandwich. The deal was closed Monday afternoon.

Austin Hutchinson was called to Rockford Monday morning to be with his daughter who underwent a serious operation at a hospital there.

The annual Compton three-year high school tournament was held in the gym Saturday afternoon and evening. The draw pitted Lee against Steward and Lee Center against Compton. In the first game, the Lee changed many times with neither team gaining more than a few points advantage. Lee's superior ball handling offset Steward's advantage in size during the first half. In the second half, however, Steward forged to the front and was never in danger. The final score was 20 to 11.

In the second game Compton took an early lead only to see itself shoved down to a single point at the end of the first half. In the second half Compton lost its captain, W. Chaon, on fouls, and a few minutes later L. Archer followed him. In place of folding up under such misfortune, the home boys carried on ably and although trailing by five points at one time, managed to nose out their rivals by one point, 19 to 18. C. Chaon was high point man with four field goals and two free throws.

Before one of the largest basketball crowds seen in Compton, Lee and Center courts fought it out for third place, the former winning by 23 to 14. The championship game between Steward and Compton was not so close as the games in the afternoon. The committee of the Women's Club on immunization from diphtheria by the toxin-antitoxin inoculation met one evening last week and outlined a plan of work for aiding the state Department of Health in the movement to stamp out this dread disease. They found that the following article well stated the fundamental facts concerning the disease and its prevention:

"Diphtheria, that disease which annually takes more children's lives than any other ailment, could be entirely wiped out in a very few years if every child received the proper preventive treatment during its first year of life.

This preventive treatment consists of administering at weekly intervals three injections under the skin of the arm a mixture called toxin-antitoxin. The toxin-antitoxin stimulates the body to manufacture an antitoxin which neutralizes the effects of the diphtheria germs, should the child be exposed to the disease. The antitoxin remains the body for several years, perhaps for life.

Since between 80 and 85 per cent of all cases of diphtheria and more than 55 per cent of the deaths of the disease occur in children less than five years of age, the protective treatment of toxin-antitoxin should be given very early in life. The ideal time is as soon after six months of age as possible. The physician should administer both the Schick test and the toxin-antitoxin.

1925	1926	1927	1928	1929

Group immunization, that is, administering the toxin-antitoxin to a large group of children at one time and place is fast being recognized as the most effective method of ridding the country of the disease. Certain northern European countries have been doing this for years, and our American cities are now having it done. Now it is up to the rural communities to follow the same plan.

In January, 1930, the children of Lee school were immunized. To be given Friday evening, January 30, in the M. E. church dining room by the Woman's club, country sausage, pancakes, coffee, and with all the appropriate trimmings. Any person who will eat twenty pancakes will receive a prize.

Be sure to meet "Carnelia Pickle" Friday evening, February 20. The restaurant has been sold by its owner, Mrs. Mae Bradshaw, to Dr. B. C. Powell of Sandwich. The deal was closed Monday afternoon.

Austin Hutchinson was called to Rockford Monday morning to be with his daughter who underwent a serious operation at a hospital there.

The annual Compton three-year high school tournament was held in the gym Saturday afternoon and evening. The draw pitted Lee against Steward and Lee Center against Compton. In the first game, the Lee changed many times with neither team gaining more than a few points advantage. Lee's superior ball handling offset Steward's advantage in size during the first half. In the second half, however, Steward forged to the front and was never in danger. The final score was 20 to 11.

In the second game Compton took an early lead only to see itself shoved down to a single point at the end of the first half. In the second half Compton lost its captain, W. Chaon, on fouls, and a few minutes later L. Archer followed him. In place of folding up under such misfortune, the home boys carried on ably and although trailing by five points at one time, managed to nose out their rivals by one point, 19 to 18. C. Chaon was high point man with four field goals and two free throws.

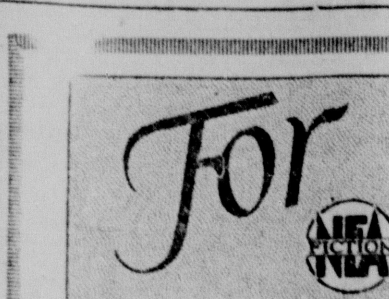

Before one of the largest basketball crowds seen in Compton, Lee and Center courts fought it out for third place, the former winning by 23 to 14. The championship game between Steward and Compton was not so close as the games in the afternoon. Steward's superior height and under-the-basket shots gave them the game, and the trophy by the score of 45 to 22.

J. P. Campbell refereed the entire affair in his customary satisfactory manner. He picked the following "All Star" teams: Mullins (Lee) and (Steward) Daur (Steward) W. Chen (Compton) Forward; Jordan (Lee) Guards; Kette and Moore (Steward) A. Mortenson (Lee Center) and Herman (Lee).

The Sportsmen's trophy was awarded to Lee by a vote of the superintendents and the referee. A new feature of the affair this year was the serving of supper by the high school girls. The girls will take the proceeds to pay for gym equipment for their own use. They served an excellent lunch in very good fashion in the high school study hall. They succeeded in their venture both financially and otherwise.

The tournament is an excellent advertisement of the school and the town.

Monday was the first day of the second half of the year. Two classes finished their work and one new class begins. Advanced algebra and advanced civics are the two classes just finished. The juniors take up the study of economics for the remainder of the year.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Because life was so slow in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, GINGER LIA TOLLIVER conceived the idea of a Junior Country Club to save the younger set from after boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents allowed, no babies. Accordingly, she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 16-acre tract with an old house on it, and proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish it.

GINGER was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former PHIL VAN DOORN, who was a tolerant person and crazy about GINGER.

One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the kitchen of the Tolliver home and offered to do a portrait in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off a lock of hair, GINGER found to her surprise that he was good looking. He had studied in Paris and his name was BARD HOLLOWAY.

GINGER, who was never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be good one if Bard remained for a while in Red Thrush, instead of wandering about the country like a hobo. He could pick up some money painting portraits for families, especially if the Tollivers sponsored him. And he could do the mural decorations in the new club house, for GINGER was bound it would be a success.

So GINGER kept her stepmother, Phil, to live him to stay with the Tollivers. The artist, however, Phil makes him accept, GINGER explains to him about the club, and she takes him out to inspect it before he starts to work on it. The name of the club, he decided, is to be "Jole de Vire."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

BUT GINGER went first of all to a sign painter and arranged for an old, presumably worm-eaten signpost with a colonial lantern to swing below it, proclaiming to the world that Jole de Vire had taken up residence at Mill Rush on Rabbit River.

Iry Ford was particularly interested in the selection of a name, because he wanted to have a couple of large "college flags" made up to inform the public that his taxi was the best if not the only means of transportation to that delectable resort.

GINGER printed out the name for him and he perused it frowningly. "I don't like that name," he said. "Looks funny to me. What's it mean, anyhow?"

"Oh, it means happiness—the fun of living—have a good time, and all that sort of thing," she explained. "How do you pronounce it?" "Zashura da reer," she enunciated slowly.

"I don't like it," he complained again. "Why not just say 'Have a good time, and be done with it, if that's what it means? Seems no enter somehow.'"

But GINGER was not to be dissuaded and on Saturday nights for a great many weeks thereafter Iry stood with his old cab at the north east corner of the Square, his college flags flying in the wind, while his stentorian voice proclaimed to a delighted audience:

"Taxicab to the Jole de Vire. Right this way, ladies and gentlemen, to the Jole de Vire. Only two bits to the Jole de Vire."

Many of them frankly announced their unequalled excellence in doing turkeys on the blackboards for Thanksgiving, heads of George for the birthday of the Father of our Country, and United States flags at half-mast for Decoration Day. The responsibility of keeping his supplies from depletion and his art from prostitution at the hands of her loyal cohorts was very great.

"I wish I had brought Nicolo Calleno out with me," Bard said as they were driving back to town. "He wanted to come, but I didn't know where he was going nor I'd be going back and I was afraid to run the risk. He'd create a sensation out here. Jole de Vire exudes from his every pore."

"Who is he?" "He's a little Italian lad in Chicago, a sort of waiter, sort of musician—I don't really know what reputedly paid dividends of 26 to 50 per cent on investments. Rockford—Everett Sapp, phonograph salesman, and Helen Shaner, Freeport waitress, who were found together in Minneapolis after they had attempted, authorities said, to cover up their disappearance last December with a murder hoax, pleaded not guilty to charges of stealing several automatic phonographs.

Springfield—Taking advantage of favorable weather, Sangamon county farmers have started their spring plowing for the 1931 corn crop. Springfield—The prolonged drought has caused a water shortage in central and southern Illinois. Sangamon county wells are dry and the Sangamon river is unusually low. A number of cities may soon be forced to haul their water.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Senator-elect James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois told joint session of the Arizona legislature that the provisions of the Federal constitution have become "so distorted by constitutional independence no real political sovereignty in any representative agency of the people of the United States."

Chicago—The Auburn-Comersville plant of the Auburn Automobile Company added 500 employees to its payroll during the past week. The plant is operating on a six-day-a-week basis with several departments working on night shifts and Sunday scheduling.

Chicago—Charles W. Nash, president of the Nash Motors Company who celebrated his 67th birthday with a group of Chicago friends, asserted that the present day youth "is too impatient to make the necessary sacrifice for success."

Berlin—Annual report shows Krupp Steel Works lost $1,000,000 in fiscal year 1929-1930. Managua—Nicaraguan National guard reports four engagements in which eight insurgents were killed and two wounded; one Guardsman was wounded.

Bardonecchia, Italy—Six Italian frontier guards are killed and several injured by an avalanche.

SPORTS

New York—Max Schmeling arrives; insists he never made derogatory remarks concerning New York or German Boxing Commission.

Chicago—Layton loses three cushion billiard championship; Hall and Thurnbald to meet for title Thursday.

Illinois—Stockton—Philip Rayne, 50, a Chicago Great Western brakeman, was crushed to death in a fall under the wheels of a freight train.

Chicago—An attempt to gain the release of Joseph "Yellow Kid" Weil by habeas corpus was blocked by the filing of two charges of operating a confidence game and one of conspiracy against him. His partner, Fred Buckminster, was held on two confidence game charges. Their bonds were fixed at $20,000 each.

Belvidere—Adjournment of the Boone county grand jury today was expected to bring a report on its investigation into the affairs of A. W. Benham, financial "wizard" who has Color Schemes To Prod Workmen Cleveland, Jan. 27.—(AP)—Engineers here are creating a new environment for the working man. This new environment will take the form of schemes of color and lighting for interiors of factories, offices and school buildings. Some of the colors that have beautified the homes will not go into factories.

Color scheme charts are being worked out by Matthew Luckiesh, director of lighting research at Nela Park. He believes a majority of the workers are happier, more enthusiastic and consequently more efficient when they work in an environment that has the color appeal.

He is working out schemes of cool colors for factory interiors where hard, muscular work is done. Offices, he says, should have warmer colors. Where women work on some delicate feminine material, some such color as orchid should predominate. School rooms with windows on the north should be colored with warmth and on the south kept colorfully cool.

SHEEP AND LAMBS ON FARMS OF ILL. SHOW A DECREASE

Fourteen Percent Decrease
Over Year Ago
Is Shown

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—A decrease of 14 per cent in the number of sheep and lambs on feed on Illinois farms January 1, 1931, is slightly more than offset by the increased number on feed at commercial feeding stations in the State, the January 1st survey made jointly by the Illinois and Federal Departments of Agriculture said today. "The number on feed on farms is placed at 120,000 head against 140,000; 1930, and the number on feed at Illinois feeding stations is reported at 30,000 compared with 9,000 head on hand at commercial feeding stations a year ago.

For the U. S. the number of sheep and lambs on feed for market in the principal feeding states on January 1, 1931 was about 13 per cent, equivalent to 775,000 head, smaller than on January 1, 1930, the survey said. "The number this year, while below that of a year ago, was larger than for any other recent year. The number estimated on feed January 1 this year was 5,109,000 head compared to the revised estimates of 5,886,000 head January 1, 1930 and 4,829,000 January 1, 1929. The average number for the 5 year, 1926 to 1930, was 4,810,000.

"The estimated number on feed this year was smaller than last in both the Corn Belt and western feeding area. The estimated total in the Corn Belt States including western Nebraska was 2,610,000 this year, 2,901,000 in 1930 and 2,543,000 in 1929. There were larger decreases from last year in Ohio, Michigan and Nebraska, and smaller decreases in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri. There were substantial increases in Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota and Kansas. The numbers reported on feed in commercial feed lots in the Corn Belt states were considerably larger this year than last. The decreases in Nebraska was due to large decreases in the Scottsbluff and lower Platte Valley sections. The number in the Scottsbluff area this year, including both the Nebraska and Wyoming sections, was 310,000 compared to 435,000 a year ago.

"The estimated numbers on feed in the western states, including Texas and North Dakota, were 2,499,000 this year, 2,985,000 in 1930 and 2,279,000 in 1929. The decrease in this area was due to a decrease of about 565,000 head in Colorado. There were increases of about 40,000 head in both North Dakota and Idaho but in the other states changes from last year were not large."

California City

May Be "Chicago"

San Francisco, Jan. 27—(UP)—Bay Point, California, became Chicago, California, at an official Chamber of Commerce banquet last night, but it was apparent today that the town might encounter a few difficulties before it obtains official recognition for its new designation.

Four hundred persons, including city and state officials, industrialists, and newspaper men, gathered at Bay Point, and the "birth" of Chicago. Despite the spirit of certainty that permeated the festival, there was some doubt as to the legality of the proceedings.

In the first place, officials of the General Chemical Co., which operates a plant at Chicago, California, and has another plant and its mail office at Chicago, Illinois, wired Governor Rolph protesting the change, on the grounds that considerable confusion would result, especially regarding mail.

In the second place, District Post Office Superintendent Edward McGrath stated that the Post Office Department must give its permission before the change in names could become official. No word has been received from Washington granting the permission, he said.

Civic leaders of Chicago, California, believed that with a number of large manufacturing plants located in the region, and with plans to develop a new area to be served by four transcontinental railroads and a deep water channel, they should be allowed to take the name of the Illinois' industrial center if they wished.

Britain Protests
Port Conditions

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The British government has made formal representations to the State Department regarding "unsatisfactory conditions" under which British subjects are being held at some centers and particularly at Seattle, Wash., for deportation.

The State Department, in a reply to the note presented December 18 by Ambassador Lindsay, stated the Labor Department expected the new building at Seattle to be ready for occupancy in August.

The State Department communicated the British representations to the Labor Department, which answered the unsatisfactory conditions due to the lack of space at Seattle had been known to the Department for some time. The new building, it was added was being equipped with a view to comfort for those detained.

TO SUCCEED LUCAS

Washington, Jan. 27—(UP)—The Senate Finance committee voted unanimously today to report favorably the nomination of David Burnett of Ohio to the Collectorship of Internal Revenue, succeeding Robert H. Lucas, who is now Executive Director of the Republican National Committee.
